Commissioners agree changes needed in allocation of costs for township services

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"My taxes doubled in a couple of years, but I still felt I was getting a good deal," said Albany camp owner Jim Largess. "I think most [unorganized territories] folks recognize the deal that they're getting."

Largess, who lives in Newry and serves as a selectman there, was speaking at the conclusion of last week's joint meeting of the Bethel and Newry selectmen and the Oxford County Commissioners.

No one present, including the commissioners, disputed Largess' observation. (The current mill rate in Bethel is 17.68 — more than double the 8.53 rate in Albany and other Oxford County townships.)

Last week's meeting was called to discuss the amount of money Bethel is reimbursed by the county for fire protection the town provides in part of Albany Township.

Last year the town billed the county $17,803 for fire coverage, and the commissioners — who hold the purse strings for the unorganized townships (UTs) in Oxford County — agreed to pay that much.

This year, however, the town submitted a bill for $28,320, and the commissioners balked.

Town Manager Scott Cole said the increase was due primarily to the cost of debt service on the new fire station.

Bethel taxpayers pay approximately $1.50 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation to support the town's Fire Department, Cole argued, and it was only fair that UT property owners who benefit from Bethel's fire protection pay as much.

"The people in the UT choose to be unorganized, to be not incorporated," Cole said. "If

Long-term drawdown of Newry surplus eyed

By ALISON ALOISIO

On the recommendation of the town's auditor, selectmen are looking at a plan to spend down some of Newry's $1-million-plus surplus account.

The board discussed the proposal as they worked Monday on the 2006 municipal budget.

The selectmen hope to apply funds annually to offset tax money raised for the annual payments on a 10-year loan for the town's new ladder truck.

This year's payment will be $77,000, and Newry already has the money set aside in funds that were raised last year.

The board tentatively plans to take $125,000 from surplus this year to help pay for roadwork, improvements at the Grange Hall, and some Fire Department expenses.

Among road projects targeted are the intersection of the Sunday River/Monkey Brook roads, the outer Sunday River Road, a section of Skiway Road, and possibly the Lone Pine Road and the bridge on Branch Brook Road.

The SR/MB intersection needs work to improve visibility, selectmen said. The estimated cost is $75,000 to $80,000.

There is currently $50,000 in the Highway Capital Improvement Account.

Grange Hall improvements would include paving the driveway, installing new upstairs lights and installing a lift on the stairs for the handicapped, at an estimated total cost of $22,000.

Selectmen plan to pay for the lift with funds left over from Newry's bicentennial celebration.

Acting out by kids encouraged at summer festival

Local street performers, especially youngsters, are being sought for the Bethel Performing Arts Festival, scheduled for Aug. 9 to 13.

The festival will have two components: legitimate theatre, with two different plays produced by a professional company; and a village-wide street festival featuring street performers of all types.

Although the festival will be centered on the common, it is anticipated there will be jugglers, magicians, clowns and musicians showing off their talents all along Main Street.

These performers will be happy to entertain adults and children of all ages literally at the drop of a hat, with the hope that the hat will be filled by an appreciative crowd.

Wednesday, Aug. 9, is being designated "Young Performers Day." Any youngster who

What we save in winter heating costs may end up paying for spring car repairs

By ALISON ALOISIO

It has been, said MDOT's Norm Haggan, "a unique winter." One that has left roads tilted and potholed since January, weeks earlier than usual.

Frost heaves have turned sections of some roads into a series of speed bumps. The Gore and Greenwood roads in Greenwood, Route 2 toward New Hampshire, and parts of Routes 5 and 26 are among the most frequently mentioned by area drivers.

The heavy rains in January soaked into the gravel underlying the roads and then refroze, pushing up the pavement.

Haggan said in a typical year, occasional large bumps will appear in roads during January.

But this year, he said, the water has even seeped through where small cracks in the road had previously been sealed.

"Even the good roads have been trouble," he said. Haggan said the higher-than-normal rainfall amounts during 2005 also contributed to the problem, by raising the overall water table.

Seniors' commitment since childhood raised girls' hoops to new heights

By ALISON ALOISIO

The half dozen seniors on the Telstar High School girls' basketball team are wrapping up a decade of playing hoops together. As this season concludes, they are able to look back with pride at accomplishing several firsts.

Two years ago, they led the first Rebel girls' team in school history to qualify for post-season play at the Augusta Civic Center.

Last year, on the way to their second trip to Augusta, they posted the best regular-season record ever for a Telstar team, going 11-7.

This year, they bettered that to 12-6.

"They've brought a new spirit for girls' basketball at Telstar," said Kelly Dole, who returned to coach the team this year. "They're a special group who decided a long time ago, when they were little, that they wanted to play, and play well."

Dole knows this because she had them in a basketball clinic when they were young girls — and because her daughter, Kelsey, is among them.

The group also includes, Chea Davis, Chelsea Cozzolino, Lindsay Hart, Jillian Kimball and Liz Rosenberg.

Most of the girls credit their parents with helping to introduce them to the game.

"My dad encouraged me. He coached the GRCC (Greater Rumford Community Center) team in Rumford," said Davis.

Cozzolino remembers arriving at the Woodstock Elementary School as a fifth-grader, and becoming friends with Rosenberg. Her interest developed from there.

As for Rosenberg, she started out as a skier. But when her parents signed her up for a basketball clinic with Kelly Dole, Liz decided to focus her

THANKS, SUNDAY RIVER

To the Editor:

I just spoke with a gentleman from Madison who owns a pizza shop and travels extensively for a vending company. He was lamenting the 25-30 small businesses in his area that have closed temporarily because of the lack of snow.

Yesterday I spoke with a beer salesman who told me that western Maine sales are down 30 percent or more.

Both gentlemen also pointed out that sales in the Bethel area, while lower than last year, were the best in the region.

The 5,000 to 10,000 folks who are coming to Sunday River each weekend are not only having an impact on the lodging and restaurant trade.

They are buying oil and gas, groceries and hardware, using the services of contractors and real estate agents. They are employing snow plowers, excavators and massage therapists. There are few in this community who are not benefiting from the customers that Sunday River attracts.

We thank the staff and management of Sunday River for helping to make it possible for us to continue to do business in this winter of negligible snow.

Sunday River has maintained good conditions on its slopes, given the most adverse weather. It has continued to invest in snowmaking in order to provide a quality experience for our customers.

The commitment and dedication demonstrated by Sunday River has benefited us all.

This community owes Sunday River a big "Thank-You." We appreciate your hard work.

REMEMBERING TRIPPER

To the Editor:

David Tripp taught at Telstar from the day it opened in 1968 until his retirement in 1998.

To his students he was a teacher who always went the extra mile to see they understood the lesson.

To his friends and colleagues he could always be counted on to be there if he was needed.

To all he was a larger-than-life figure who lived for his family and the many friendships he made in school and out.

David formed opinions on many topics and vigorously defended each of them. He will be missed by all of us.

FOOTBALL FUNDRAISER UPDATE

To the Editor:

During the first two nights (of four) of the Dinner with the Sopranos fundraiser we raised half of our target goal of $5,000. We have two nights left, Thursday and Saturday, to raise the balance.

The response thus far was overwhelming, and we even had to turn some folks away.

To make reservations for the last two nights of authentic Italian cooking and do a good thing for the future football players of Telstar, call 824-3496 or e-mail gideon@megalink.net.

If you don't, we may have to break your legs.

KNOWS WHAT HE'S TALKING ABOUT

To the Editor:

The letter to the editor from Mike Broderick in the Feb. 9 issue of The Citizen attacks John Head's courage and integrity. Mr. Broderick assumes that Mr. Head was speaking for the Water Company board when, in fact, he was voicing his personal opinion. The Citizen erred by assuming he was speaking for the whole board.

In the past it seems as though Mr. Head has been the spokesperson for the Water Company board out of necessity, as other members of the board are out of town or out of touch.

Mr. Broderick speaks of John Head's "rant" in his letter. Our town manager seems intent on the town taking over the Water Company ever since he has been in office and uses other people to try to accomplish this. This causes me and others to "rant" if that is the term to voice our disapproval.

John Head has served on the board of the Water Company for 25 years; he knows what he is talking about and should be respected and appreciated rather than criticized.

HIS WORD IS AS GOOD AS THE SEAL OF ST. JOHN

To the Editor:

Dear Sir: to you and through you to your readers. I read the opening Letter to the Editor in last week's issue (Vol. 11 No. 6) and could not believe what I saw. I had to read the letter a second time, and then found myself searching my file to see the letter M. Broderick mentions from the previous week. The original letter of Engineer Hodson explains fact and sets forth his best opinion and advice to the Trustees and by extension to the consumers of the Water District. While there is no question that John Barker Head is a man of opinion sometimes strong and stated, I see no reason for M. Broderick to take issue. John states nothing more than the facts the Water District is an independent agent and not under the control of the town government or the town manager. Some people in the town feel that town government and the manager ought to be in control of everything.

I think the manager, well intending as he may be, probably has his hands fairly full and should let the Water District run their own affairs in the responsible able manner that they have for many years. Taking a shot at John Head in the column of this newspaper is not a way to "win friends and influence people." Shame on you Mr. Broderick. I trust that you are a responsible, well-intending servant as a trustee of the Water District. I do not know you and frankly after reading your letter have no interest in meeting you. You can be well-assured I will petition the selectmen to see that you are not re-appointed to the Water District trustees again.

Perhaps after reading this, you could consider making an apology to John Head.

Whether John Head was speaking as an individual or for the District, his word is as good as the Seal of the King. John does this community a service by assuring that the water flows clean and well and that we are not in danger of becoming a community run by totalitarian rule.

There are many that hope John Head continues to speak out and take a stand; you can be sure that he will not stand alone, but I am not so sure about you M. Broderick.

'MUCH TO MY DISMAY'

To the Editor:

Mike Broderick's Letter to the Editor in the Feb. 9 Bethel Citizen is noted and not well received. Had he contacted me, all the rhetoric and name-calling could have been avoided.

My Feb. 2 Letter to the Editor did not contain the signature block "For the Bethel Water District Board of Trustees." When the Bethel Citizen was published on Feb. 2, there it was, much to my distress.

I cleared our consulting engineer's letter to me with my fellow trustees and all agreed it should be made public to clarify our position regarding grants, loans and such to upgrade the system.

The portion of the letter following the engineer's clarification constituted my thoughts regarding the existing situation based on my 25 years of service as a trustee of the Bethel Water District. I stand by every word I wrote.

This whole matter deserves to just go away, but I suspect it will not. At 10:30 a.m. Monday, Feb. 13, I received a phone call from Editor Mike Daniels, responding to my call to him on Feb. 10. He refused to discuss the matter with me and urged me to write a letter to the editor again, and he would respond to it. So, here we go, read on!

John B. Head
Bethel

Reply: Certainly silence is often a welcomed blessing, but before it falls we do need to set the record straight on one point. The "For the ..." at the end of John Head's Feb. 2 letter did not result from an incorrect assumption on The Citizen's part — as Bob Blake incorrectly assumes, and as John Head appears to imply.

"For the" was put after John Head's name because John Head explicitly said that was what he wanted there.

It happened like this.

On the Monday or Tuesday prior to the publication of our Feb. 2 edition Head brought his letter into our office and handed it directly to the editor. At that point the letter was signed only as "John Head, Chairman, Board of Trustees, Bethel Water District" — which was fine, and what we would have run.

But after a few moments of more-or-less pleasant chit-chat and shop talk, Head began to leave, and as he did he volunteered (unprompted) that he had "run the letter by the other two trustees," and they approved of its contents.

The editor then automatically asked what editors tend to ask in such situations — Did Head in that case want to say beneath his signature: "For the Board of Trustees, Bethel Water District"? (Readers deserve whenever possible to know if a letter is intended to represent the thoughts of the individual writer or of a group of individuals for which the writer is speaking.)

Head replied in the unequivocal affirmative: "Yeah, yeah," to be precise.

So we added "For the," and the letter was published.

Now, Head claims that when he saw the letter in the newspaper, he was dismayed to read that he claimed to be speaking for the entire board. But if this is indeed true, why would he have waited so long to say so?

As a responsible public official, would he not have wanted the misattribution (as he claims to see it) corrected at the earliest possible date?

Head is certainly not shy about making his feelings known. And had he called The Citizen in the week following the publication of the Feb. 2 letter, we would without question have given him the opportunity to have his say in our Feb. 9 edition.

But for more than a week we heard not a peep — not, that is, until the Feb. 9 publication of "that bozo" (Head's words, in his Friday phone message) Mike Broderick's letter.

We resist the temptation to speculate on possible reasons for the curiously belated onset of John Head's "dismay."

In our back yard:

It's winter — so get out there

Winter is here and it is no time to hibernate.

Staying inside often means breathing in too much bad indoor air, gaining weight and getting the winter blues and bugs. Exercising inside the gym is great for strength training but exercising outside during a New England winter really stiffens the backbone.

That is why one of my favorite winter scenes is a cross-country ski trail with spruce and fir trees cloaked in a fresh dusting of snow. It is beautiful, and it beckons the adventurous soul and winter-bound body.

Here in Maine we have a wonderful year-round outdoor playground (usually free of charge) for fun and exercise. Winter activities, such as cross-country skiing, snowshoeing or simply walking briskly in the cold, crisp air, are fairly inexpensive and easy on the joints. Outdoor exercise also helps increase metabolism rates to fight weight gain and endorphin (brain chemical) levels to help keep us peppy and free of the winter blues. (Although my favorite reason for outdoor winter exercise is the smug feeling of earning that post workout lounge around the woodstove with a cup of hot chai tea.)

So where to go and what to do?

If there is no convenient woods road or nearby snowmobile trail (always check with the landowner about access), check out some of Maine's state parks. There are extensive trail systems at Bradbury Mountain in southern Maine, Camden Hills and Acadia National Park on the coast, Mount Blue State Park in the western mountains and, up north, at Aroostook State Park and Baxter State Park (where winter trips require proof of experience and registration). For more information on cross-country skiing in Maine, including the two world-class centers in Aroostook County, go to www.mainesco.org.

When venturing out during your winter wanderings dress in layers and choose clothes, especially your windproof outer layer that vents or breathes to manage moisture (sweat). Protect exposed skin from the wind and drink plenty of fluids to prevent dehydration in the cold, dry winter air. Also, do not forget that old adage, cotton kills: dress in wool or synthetics (made of recycled plastics) that do not retain moisture.

One more thing. It is really important to be able to recognize the symptoms of hypothermia (uncontrolled shivering, drowsiness, slurred speech, numbness) and understand the concepts of wind chill. When exercising in the cold, the risk of hypothermia is usually greatest when you stop and do not have access to warm, dry shelter or dry clothes.

Along with winter clothing, footwear is much improved as well, such as the new lightweight but warm boots designed for snowshoeing and winter running shoes with spikes that grip those patches of ice and snow, but push back up into the sole when you hit pavement again.

Stay healthy this winter and get outside and exercise to keep the blues and the bugs at bay.

This column was submitted by David McCaskill, an environmental engineer with the Maine DEP's Bureau of Remediation and Waste Management.

Dogs and cats survive house fire

NORWAY — An infrared heat lamp was believed to be the cause of a weekend fire that destroyed part of a three-story home in which a dozen cats and six dog-wolf hybrids lived alone. None of the animals was hurt in the blaze, although one hybrid had to be treated for seizures, Fire Chief Michael Mann said Monday. The home is owned by Earl Laidlaw, an attorney known in the Oxford Hills area for his love of animals. Laidlaw would visit the house each day to feed the pets, who lived there because there was not room for them in his trailer in Paris. The cats, which could freely enter and exit the house, saved themselves from the flames. Firefighters at the scene of the Sunday morning fire spotted several of them in the woods in 12-degree weather. Neighbors apparently let the dogs out of their pens when they realized the home was burning and also called in to report the fire, the chief said. Laidlaw joined firefighters at the scene. "He was nervous about the animals, but they were all taken care of by the time we got there," Mann said.

At 1 a.m. on Route 26 Officer T.J. Reese arrested Keith I. Markle, 33, of West Paris for operating with a suspended registration.

At 7:40 a.m. a subject flagged down Officer T.J. Reese and reported that another subject had locked their keys in their car. A business was contacted to unlock the vehicle.

At 11:30 p.m. Officer T.J. Reese found a vehicle parked at a condominium with its trunk open. There were skis and equipment in it. The owner could not be located, so the officer closed, but did not latch, the trunk.

Saturday, Feb. 11

At 12:10 a.m. Officer T.J. Reese and Sgt. S.R. White responded to the Balsam Road for a report of a loud party. A subject was warned for disorderly conduct.

At 3:05 a.m. on Route 26 Officer T.J. Reese arrested Brandon S. Palmer, 24, of Bethel for OUI.

At 4:05 p.m. Officer Jack Taylor responded to Route 2 in West Bethel for a car/bus accident. The car had rear-ended the bus. There were no injuries.

At 9:50 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White assisted the Fire Department with a call for a report of a hot electric smell at a Balsam Road residence.

Friday, Feb. 10

At 12:35 p.m. Officer Phil Taylor responded to a Bird Hill location for an alarm. The owner said he had reset it.

At 2:10 p.m. Officer Phil Taylor responded to a village residence for a 911 hangup call. The resident said she had hit some numbers by mistake.

At 2:40 p.m. Officer Phil Taylor, at the request of the Paris Police Department, stopped a vehicle on Route 26 for a shoplifting incident. He held the subject until a Paris officer arrived.

Thursday, Feb. 9

At 9 a.m. Officer Phil Taylor responded to an office for a report of a 911 hangup call. No one in the building knew of such a call.

At 1:22 p.m. Officer Mac McCormick responded to a Main Street lodging place for a report of harassment. A protection from abuse order was scheduled to be issued for a subject.

At 8:25 p.m. Officer Mac McCormick received a report of a $55 gas driveoff. There was no description of the vehicle or direction of travel.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists cases reported in the log of adults being arrested or issued a summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of police activity, such as routine speeding tickets and other civil violations. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

attention on the court.

She also played GRCC basketball. So, too, did Kimball and Hart.

And, said Hart, "Both my parents played in high school, and my dad kept the scoreboard (at Telstar), so I was always running around the basketball court."

Growing up, most of them also played AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) summer basketball. They traveled all over Maine and sometimes New England to play.

"Staying in the hotels helped with team bonding," said Rosenberg.

The six have also played together on other sports teams. All play at least one other varsity sport, either field hockey or softball. But the strongest bond is through basketball, they said, because it's been forged over a longer time.

"We've created a 'basketball family,'" said Kelsey Dole.

Davis said the basketball ties have helped them in the other sports, as well, because they know each other so well.

Kelly Dole said the girls have served as good role models for their younger teammates, both on and off the court.

"They're all in the National Honor Society," she said.

And, said the coach, "I'm very glad the opportunity to come back to coach them came when it did. To work with this group is special for me. I feel very close to them, and not just because my daughter is on the team, but because my daughter's friends are, too. I've had the time of my life."

Some of the seniors hope to play basketball in college, but all said they would at least continue to play recreationally.

And the lessons of commitment and discipline will always stay with them, Rosenberg said.

"We've learned about hard work, and how to be a team," she said.

Rosenberg credits the girls' parents for their support.

"I think we should thank our parents for all the hours, money and food, and for driving us to and from camps," she said.

"We couldn't have done it without their commitment."

Roads

were out spreading "crusher dust" in the worst holes.

The dust, a byproduct of the rock-crushing process, is a temporary fix that, with luck, hopefully lasts until the roads settle back down in the warming spring weather.

The Greenwood road crew has also been applying crusher dust, road foreman Alan Seames said.

The Greenwood Road, along South and other ponds in the town, "is the worst I've seen it," Seames said.

Improvements to the road started last year, and if residents approve at Town Meeting, another 4,600 feet will undergo reclamation and paving this season, he said.

On Woodstock roads, "The frost heaves do seem to be worse, and earlier," said Town Manager Vern Maxfield. "I also think that the road infrastructure is in tough shape due to increasing traffic in volume and vehicle count, without funds enough to do needed major repairs as soon as we would like to do them."

Car repairs expected

Dwayne Bennett, owner of Bennett's Automotive in Bethel, said he expects to see more vehicles coming in this spring to have struts replaced. Sam Westleigh of Bethel Auto Sales said he, too, expects to be replacing some struts.

"People just try to get through the winter," said Bennett, "then they get their work done in the spring."

Tires that hit holes hard can receive damage on the sidewalls, leading to the tire wearing out-of-round, he said.

But the roads don't look like a minefield everywhere. Road Commissioner Marshall Meisner of Andover said that it seems like a fairly typical winter.

"There's a few frost heaves and bumps," he said, for which he's staked out warning signs.

And even for the roads in the toughest shape, Haggan has managed to find a silver lining.

"Hopefully, it will be offset because there's less snow to melt," he said. "It may balance out."

Watch your coffee

Where the roads are bad, they can be especially hard on trucks with stiff suspensions. Bennett said it's a rough ride in his tow truck traveling Route 2 to New Hampshire.

THE GREENWOOD ROAD is worse this winter than Alan Seames, Greenwood road foreman, has seen it in his 20 years on the town Highway Department. (Photo: M. Daniels)

we're clipping people at a buck fifty a thousand in Bethel, I don't feel the town has any choice but to clip everybody else at a buck-fifty, or they can incorporate or do something else."

Like Cole, Newry selectman Steve Wight felt the current economic relationship between the UTs and municipalities needed to evolve.

The nature of development in the UTs is changing rapidly, he argued, and the method of paying for essential services has to change as well.

"The residents in the UTs are going to have to wake up," Wight said. Dwellings in the UT are no longer tarpaper shacks, he told the commissioners.

"You're getting the $500,000 vacation homes as well, and they have to be protected, so you really have to play the game by the same set of rules," Wight argued.

County Commissioner Steve Merrill did not disagree. "UT inhabitants have been getting a real good deal in the years past," he said.

But he also noted that the tax rate in the UT, while low, has been going up rapidly in recent years.

"When these big increases come up in such a short period of time, due diligence says you look at it and say: 'What's the problem and how are you going to explain it to those people who are paying the taxes?'" Merrill said. "And that's what we're doing."

Fellow commissioner Jeff

Fagan also noted that Bethel's increase request was poorly timed, catching the commissioners already well into their annual budget building.

"To get it at budget time and not get that little bit of information ahead of time, so we could expect it, put us in a position to pass the question," Fagan said.

Long-term plan

Fagan suggested that in the interest of fairness and stability, a long-term agreement between towns and the county should be explored.

At an earlier meeting with the commissioners, in January, Cole had presented a list of 12 "suggested principles of billing for fire and ambulance coverage outside of corporate boundaries."

The list, he proposed, could serve the basis for negotiation between the towns and the county over a long-term agreement.

Merrill agreed. The items, he said, "will serve as a good basis for writing this agreement."

Commissioner Dave Duquay told Cole: "I think you're ahead of your time and I commend you on that."

A recently formed state panel has begun a study of changes in population, land ownership and patterns of development in unorganized townships throughout the state.

The panel is expected to hold at least one meeting in this part of western Maine, Wight said.

The Fire Department expenses include purchasing uniforms for some members.

The board will also recommend raising $5,000 to repair the roof on the Sunday River Fire Station.

The Fire Department also wants to buy a new multipurpose pickup truck, as well as an ATV, trailer and accessories (tires and skis) for the department's rescue-boggy, which can be towed behind a snowmobile or ATV. The estimated total cost is $65,000.

The purchase can be funded entirely from the existing Fire Department Capital Reserve Account, selectmen said.

The budget and warrant will be finalized at this Monday's regular selectmen's meeting.

The annual Town Meeting is March 6.

Public hearing Feb. 27

The board has also scheduled a public hearing Feb. 27 at 7 p.m., to receive comment on several articles that will be on the Town Meeting warrant.

They include changes to the Unified Development Ordinance to require fire suppression systems in certain residential and commercial buildings; changes to the building code to include the requirements for exterior electrical shutoffs in new construction and a dumpster at all major construction sites; changes to the building permit fees schedule; changes to the definition of two-family dwelling; and changes to the Shoreland Zoning Ordinance and maps to reflect change to wetland delineation and to bring the documents into conformity with the state model ordinance.

Copies of the proposed changes are expected to be available at the Town Office in the near future.

Bethel

Laurence and Marcia Austin of New York have purchased Holiday House and Country Inn on Main Street in Bethel.

World Day of Prayer will be held at the Catholic Church on March 3. A luncheon will follow.

Larry and Marlene Engdahl have returned to Bethel after spending some time in Florida.

There was a large attendance at the Mahoosuc Initiative Public Presentation held at the Bethel Inn Conference Center last Thursday. This showed a great deal of interest in land use.

Recently Owen Davis of Norway, Amy Davis' grandson, played the cello in the District 2 orchestra held at Deering High School. He also sang in the chorus at Windham High School the following week. Colwyn Haskell, Mike and Kathy Davis, and Amy Davis attended.

James Davis, Amy Davis' grandson, placed fourth in the Wrestling Competition at Noble High School in South Berwick. Amy Davis attended.

Bill Cousins is attending rehab treatment at Brighton Surgical Center on Brighton Avenue in Portland.

Becky Kendall and Polly Davis attended the Class C Cheerleading Competition held at Augusta Civic Center last Saturday night. Nephew/grandson Colin Wagner competed for Washington Academy, which team placed second in the state in their division.

Back to winter! Enough of that sissy stuff. That's for the "Flatlanders." Mighty cold with piercing winds out there. We can count our blessings, the blizzard went south. Calls from Massachusetts and New Jersey report a huge amount of snow. With tongue in cheek I say,

"Better them than us." We get the lion's share most of the time.

East "B" Hill is again being the "Point of no Return" for "Drop Cats," especially pregnant ones. It's so cold out there that it's really a cowardly thing to do. Mike Chapman was able to catch one in his Havahart trap and bring it to Sue Angevine, our local cat protector. The little devil sprung out of the trap as soon as the door was opened. Sue is trying to lure it back, but kitty's quite smart so she hasn't had any luck yet. If she is able to trap kitty she will bring her to a place where they do not euthanize cats. She believes this cat is about to give birth to a litter.

Honor Roll lists are again out. We express pride in these students. High honors were again awarded to Jennifer Aldrich. Honors were given to Lisa Aron and Tyler Aldrich. Grandchildren of Sue and Dick Angevine also were named: Tim Aguilar, Gabe Aguilar and T.C. Wilson made the list again. Santana Wilson made the dean's list at U. Maine, Orono. They all must have worked hard to achieve this. "Atta Boys and Girls!"

We have the usual birds at the feeder plus a large flock of redpolls that fly in like blackbirds to Walter Stanczyk's feeder. They must put out a better feed than we do because we really don't have that many.

Barbara Stratton, in the middle of the snowstorm, in New Jersey, took time to tell us about the birds visiting their backyard, and there are many. They are on the Eastern Flyway much earlier than we are. They are rewarded with a great show. (A merlin is eye-balling the little birds.) She has many cardinals, finches, doves, sparrows and cats visiting her feathered friends.

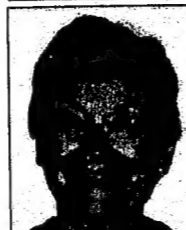

The most interesting bird is the Carolina wren. We are visited by house wrens, but they have different habits in the North Country. Tis a sweet little bird, whistles and sings and is one of our most persistent musicians. Rain or shine, makes no difference. They used to be a common bird south of here; however there are many reports of them moving north to Maine and Minnesota. He and she may build a domed nursery in a tree fork or any kind of cavity or receptacle.

Four to six white or pinkish eggs spotted with brown are found. Its characteristics are a white eyebrow stripe and rusty upper parts, buff underparts and a barred tail.

If it ever warms up here, watch closely, you may be rewarded with a sighting.

The "Bird of the Week" is Birch Point Barbara's Carolina wren.

West Bethel

After Sunday's "blizzard," Mike walked down to the brook Monday morning and spotted a variety of tracks in the eighth-inch of snow cover — coyote, fox, otter, and weasel, as well as squirrel, mice, etc. He also saw mink tracks on the brook ice at the top of the road. On Tuesday morning Jake and I found evidence of deer, moose, partridge, and marten on the forest road. What interesting tales can be found in just a little snow or mud!

And speaking of that same "blizzard," I was one of thousands of travelers stranded on Sunday by the East Coast storm. I flew to Ohio on Friday to attend a family funeral, with plans to return on Sunday. Like so many others, I was forced to reschedule, finally returning home 24 hours late. Better late than never, and glad I am to be here!

John Wheeler called to tell me that his mother, Marilyn (Wheeler) Estrada is currently recovering from open heart surgery which took place on Feb. 9 in Florida. Marilyn, a longtime resident of West Bethel, is doing well. John says she would welcome cards and letters from her former neighbors, so herewith her address: 307 West Fountain Street, Fruitland Park, FL 34731. We wish her well.

Last Wednesday evening there was a well-attended presentation at the Bethel Inn Conference Center which served to introduce the Mahoosuc Initiative and the Mahoosuc Region Resources Report process to the public. Organized jointly by the Mahoosuc Land Trust and the Bethel Historical Society, the event also introduced all of the project partners, comprising the Northern White Mountain Chamber of Commerce, Androscoggin River Watershed Council, Mahoosuc Land Trust, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, Appalachian Mountain Club, The Wilderness Society, Northern Forest Alliance, and Appalachian Trail Conservancy.

The evening started with a welcome and introduction by Stan Howe, executive director of the Bethel Historical Society and chairman of the Board of Selectman, Town of Bethel; and Steve Wight, Mahoosuc Land Trust and first selectman, Town of Newry. Randy Bennett, assistant director of the Bethel Historical Society, followed with a slide show depicting the history of land use in the Mahoosuc region. By the way, the name "Mahoosuc" means "land that is hard to hunt in." We also learned that the Philbrook House is the oldest hotel in these parts that has been run by members of the same family. Other high points were the end of river transport of logs in 1953 and passage of the Water Quality Act in 1965, which led to the eventual cleanup of the Androscoggin.

Recent land ownership patterns were examined by Bruce Clendenning of the Appalachian Mountain Club. Finally Jim Mitchell, executive director of Mahoosuc Land Trust, and Marcel Polak of Spruce Mountain Consulting discussed the Mahoosuc Region Resources Report. We came away with the feeling that "we've come a long way, baby," but there will never be a time to relax our vigilance if we want to maintain the beauties and usefulness of this region.

Still hope to hear from more of you. 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

The "Cricket" is gone. The small building next to Route 2 was demolished last week. The building was built in the early 1960s to house a takeout restaurant. Pete Rassavage who lived across the street and operated the business for several years built it. It was a popular spot for burgers, fries and the best fried clams you could imagine. Ice Cream sold well there when a small cone still cost only ten cents.

After it closed it was converted to a residence and for a while in the '80s it again was opened as a small convenience store for a brief period. More recently the building had been in disrepair and it was removed to make room for a new residence.

The Hanover Town Office will be closed on Monday, Feb. 20, in observance of President's Day.

The Planning Board met on Wednesday with several items on the agenda. They had a discussion with a Howard Pond property owner and also with a resident asking questions about subdivisions.

Joan Tucker spent last weekend with her daughter and family at Eustis.

Brian Worcester made an unscheduled trip to the hospital emergency room in Rumford due to a bruise he received while cutting firewood on Mount Dimmock.

Hanover was born on Feb. 14, 1843. To commemorate the event the staff at the Town Office made little heart-shaped cookies with frosting on them. There was punch and a loud-speaker played patriotic music. And nobody came. Happy Birthday Hanover! We also hope everyone had a successful Valentine's Day.

More on our recent Caribbean cruise: Upon leaving Belize City, our ship headed back north along the Mexico coast to Cozumel, an island just off the coast. This tourist "Mecca" took a direct hit by a hurricane last fall shortly after Katrina devastated our own Gulf coast. According to our taxi driver, this hurricane stopped and battered Cozumel for a full 62 hours. Cozumel sustained severe damage, including their municipal pier, where cruise ships normally tie up, requiring our ship to anchor off shore and "launch" it back and forth to shore. Most of the damage to the "tourist trap" places along the main street in Cozumel had been repaired and were back in business, but the hotels extending a couple miles along the coast north of town, were closed down and undergoing repairs. Our driver said that only one of the hotels had reopened to tourists when we were there.

Most of our group: Craig and Jane, Perry and Anna, and Dale and Janine, went to "Passion Island" for the day while we were at Cozumel. There, they enjoyed some kind of beach party and a wonderful day at a secluded beach. At one point, Jane asked Janine to take a group photo with her (Jane's) digital camera. After everybody was in position and posed, Janine "shot" the picture. "Jane, I don't think the picture took, because I didn't get a green light." "Well, take another one then." Same response from Janine. "Try it again!" Same response two or three more times. After we returned to Tampa, Jane reviewed her pictures on her laptop. Sure enough. There were six or seven shots of the group; with each successive shot, Craig's expression revealed another increase in impatience!

While this was going on, Mona and I took a taxi ride around the island. Across the middle of the island, there were many trees uprooted and palm trees decapitated by the hurricane winds. Just a short distance from the built-up area of Cozumel the island is rural, with a few crude shanties every little way, along with a few cozy appearing bungalows.

Upon reaching the eastern shore of the island, we were surprised by the almost total lack of development. There are miles of unspoiled shoreline with no buildings except about three restaurants on the beach over the course of about ten miles. Our taxi stopped at one of these, where we could eat lunch (probably owned by the driver's cousin or some other relative). It was a beautiful spot, with a smattering of umbrella-shaded tables set on the sand among the palm trees, surf softly crashing on the rocks just across the sand. Although not inexpensive, the "ambiance" of the spot made the stop worthwhile.

We had been to Cozumel

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

I have been known to do some stupid things in my life. There have been a few instances when even I questioned the intelligence of my actions. Like the first time I drove through a Jack-In-The-Box fast food restaurant. Drive-thrus were relatively new then and it was my first experience. After placing my order by speaking into the clown speaker nose, I then proceeded to try to stuff the payment into his big plastic clown mouth.

After providing great hilarity to the clerk and my family, I noticed the window a few yards ahead. I have never lived that down. Now there is a television commercial where a man attempts to give his order to a trashcan at a drive-thru and every time it's on my Jack-In-The-Box blunder is brought up.

I think most of us have at least one really dumb experience to our credit. Unfortunately, there are those who have committed such horrendous acts of stupidity that they make my clown error look like intellectual genius. For those people there are the Darwin Awards.

The Darwin Awards are given each year to some of the stupidest acts known to mankind. Sadly, many of those acts of stupidity have resulted in loss of life or limb. They are worth mentioning, however, if for no other reason than to make those of us who have tried stuffing dollar bills into a clown's mouth feel a little more human.

Take for example, an insurance inspector who went to a hotel restaurant to investigate the claim made by a chef who had lost a finger in a meat-cutting machine. The inspector had the chef explain how the machine worked and how he had managed to cut off his finger.

After the chef showed the inspector the machine and told the story of how he came to speak of his finger in the past tense, the inspector just had to try it for himself. And guess what? He cut his finger off too. Needless to say, the chef's insurance claim was paid and the inspector received a 2005 Darwin Award.

Another 2005 award recipient went to a bus driver in Africa who had been transporting 20 mental patients from one facility to another. It must have been a hot and dry trip because the bus driver stopped at a bar to have a few drinks. When he returned to the bus he discovered that all the patients had escaped. Realizing that he was in serious trouble he did the only logical thing he could do. He drove to a bus stop and offered all the people there a free ride. He then delivered his passengers to the mental hospital explaining that the patients were extremely excitable and prone to bizarre fantasies. It was 3 days before the deception was discovered. My only surprise here is that the bus driver got the Darwin Award and not the hospital staff.

Even though teenagers are known for doing some pretty stupid things as a way of life, that doesn't exempt them from receiving a Darwin Award. A case in point is a teenager who was in the hospital recovering from a serious head injury. When asked how he got the injury he said he was trying to see just how close he could get his head to a moving train before it was hit. I guess he found out. Fortunately, he had a full recovery.

One of my favorite recipients is a man who robbed a convenience store. He waded into the store and placed a $20 bill on the counter and asked for change. When the clerk opened the register, the robber pulled a gun and demanded that all the money be put in a bag, which he grabbed and ran out of the store leaving behind the $20 on the counter. The register had contained $15.

I have no doubt if I was ever inclined to be a thief this is the kind of stupid thing I would do. I just keep on working for a living because I'm too inept and nervous to be a thief.

This next Darwin Award winner was perhaps a bit inept too. After snatching a purse from a woman exiting a convenience store he took off running. The clerk called the police and the woman gave an excellent description of the purse-snatcher and he was promptly caught. When the robber was taken out of the police cruiser and told to stand next to it for a positive ID, the genius replied, "Yes, Officer, that's the lady I stole the purse from."

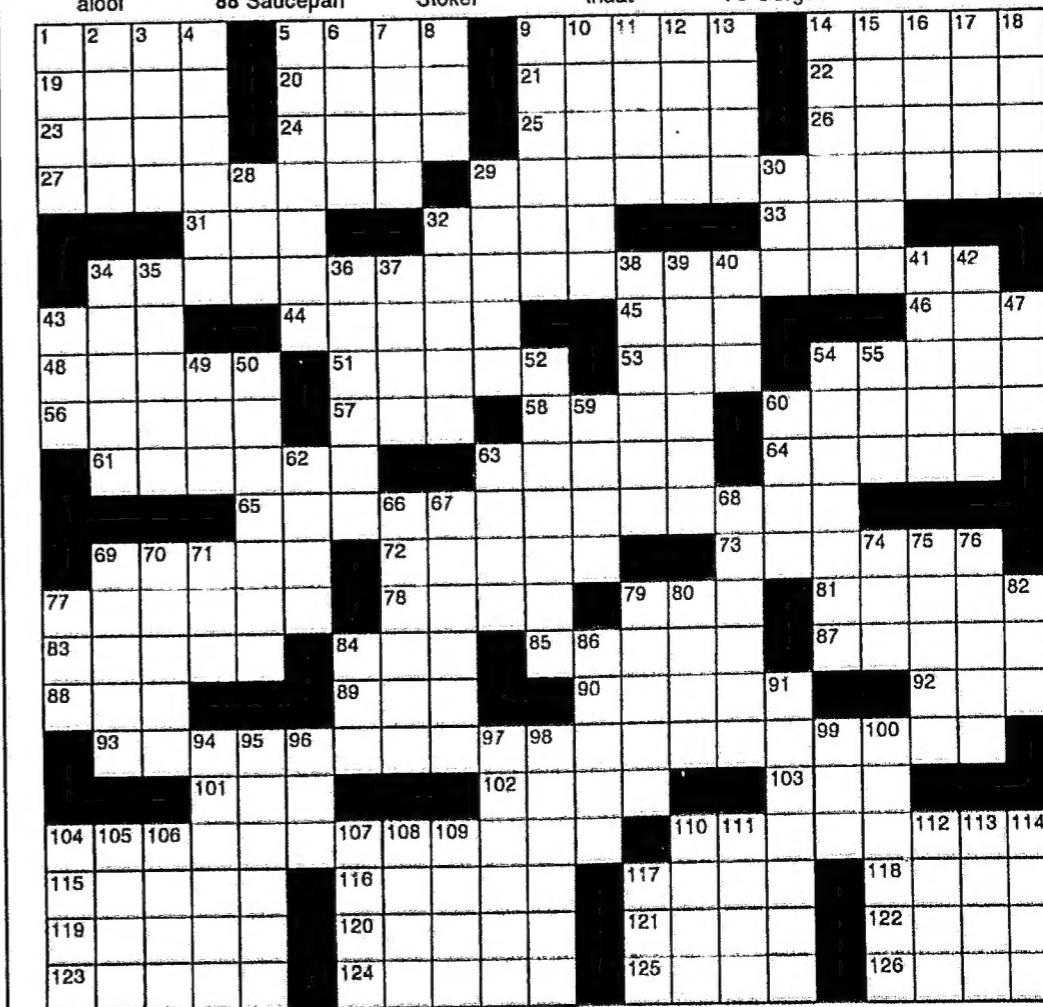

I guess the fact of the matter is, if one was very smart to begin with, they wouldn't be on the wrong side of the law.

This five-star winner definitely comes from the shallow end of the gene pool. He was attempting to siphon gas from a large motor home. Unfortunately for him, he plugged his siphon into the sewage tank by mistake and started sucking it out. By the time police arrived they found a very sick man curled up against the motor home right next to the spilled sewage. The owner of the motor home declined to press charges saying it was the best laugh he had ever had.

As I said at the beginning, I've certainly done some pretty stupid things myself, but none of them have been illegal and the way I see it, I won't be receiving a Darwin Award any time soon....I hope.

I think most of us have at least one really dumb experience to our credit.

IT'S PRACTICE—On Sunday, the Woodstock Fire Department tried out its new Rescue Alive ice sled. The sled is designed to push on ice or paddle on water to reach a victim who has fallen through the ice. The WFD used the open water near Johnny's Bridge on North Pond to simulate a rescue. Here (above left), Bob Evans practices paddling the sled. Center, Chief Geff Inman pulls "victim" Chris Hoyt aboard, and then (right) signals to other firemen to pull them back to shore. Rick Chase, the leader of the new coldwater rescue team, also took part. The firefighters also practiced the riskier traditional rescue, in which the rescuer must get into the water to position the victim to be pulled by rope from the water. "It demonstrated how much easier the sled is," said Chase. The team plans continuing drills to maintain and improve their rescue skills. The purchase of the sled was made possible by private donations from residents and other taxpayers. Inman expressed the department's appreciation for the contributions and support. (Photos: A. Aloisio) about seven years ago, but we had not seen this side of the island. We were glad to learn from our driver that much of the beach has been made a national preserve in order to protect the sea turtles that nest there during summer months. This was the last stop on our cruise before returning to Tampa, about 34 hours of steaming northward.

Our ship set sail about 5 p.m., and by next morning, it was already noticeably cooler.

During the show on our final evening afloat, our cruise director, Gavin Brown, read off his list of the ten dumbest questions he'd been asked on the cruise. I don't have them all or in order, but the ones I remember: "Does this island have water all the way around it?" "Does the ship generate its own electricity?" (No. We run an extension cord from Tampa) "Does the elevator run from the back to the front of the ship?" "Do the toilets run on salt water or fresh water?"

After returning to Tampa, we spent a few days with Craig and Jane, getting to see some of the local attractions. Love those fresh oranges and grapefruit! Craig also took us to Cape Canaveral one day, where we took the "full tour." My only regret was that we did not get there earlier in the day because we ran out of time before seeing everything. It is a very impressive tour and well worth the tour price, but you need to arrive there in the meeting to be sure you get to see everything you want to see before closing.

The Historical Society Museum's first floor has been perfectly reinterpreted. Its central feature remains its fine collection of furniture and Woodstock artifacts. This has been a tall order but the rewards for visitors will be outstanding.

Curator Larry Billings got a copy of a recent Maine History periodical from Stan Howe at the Bethel Historical Society. Woodstock Society Museum has books on many different topics. You can find much valuable information there, and Ruby Emery's books on Woodstock history especially have a lot of material to study. The society looks forward to a successful year. They have a fine museum and an active and involved group of volunteers. Larry received a phone call recently from a former student of his, a minister with seven children from North Dakota.

Last week when I wished Melvina Cummings' aunt, Marion Thurston, a Special Birthday, it was because she celebrated her 92nd in December at her daughter's home where she was living. After the repair of her broken hip she went to Ledgeview for therapy and recuperation, where she is at this time.

James Lowell of Boy Scout Pack 565 in Bethel recently made "Tenderfoot." Gene Tanguay is the leader of that pack.

Danny Lowell is still working with his Uncle David in the woodlot after school except when he is busy working on driving to fulfill the hours needed for his permit.

Both Frank Lowell Sr. and Jr. celebrated wedding anniversaries last week. Bea and Frank their 59th on Feb. 5 and Patty and Frank their 22nd on Feb. 4. Happy anniversary to both families. Boyd Howard, a friend of Bea and Frank's was here several weeks and returned to Texas on Wednesday. He worked the woodlot with David while Frank was getting back his mobility from a knee replacement. He continues to do well.

News from the Town Office: The annual Town Meeting will take place on Monday, March 6, at 7 p.m. at the Bear River Grange Hall. A 5:30 p.m. potluck supper will precede the meeting. The Planning Board met at the Town Office on Feb. 15. The Town Office will be closed on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 20. Agenda materials are posted at the Town Office or call 824-3123 for information. There are still lots of Bicentennial items for sale at the office — T-shirts with The Covered Bridge logo, coffee mugs, postcards, hats and cookbooks. Drop in, have a look-see and make a purchase. On Saturday, Karlene Bachelder and Gil Seeley drove to Stratton. On their way they stopped in East Wilton to see her grandson, Tom O'Donnell and family before heading on to a 50th anniversary celebration for Joan and Vernon Bean, who live in Rangeley. Joan is a cousin of Ras and it was her husband, Vernon, and Ras' uncle who used to do the fireworks for the Mollycoddle Day festivities in Bethel.

was well attended. Usually a ride precedes the supper held at the Grange Hall, but lack of snow made that an impossibility. There were people from the Andover and Roxbury snowmobile clubs in attendance. The oysters used to make the oyster stew were donated by Kevin and Lynn Barry of Cape Cod, Mass. On Friday afternoon, Leon Dunn received a four-pound lobster packed in ice and Fed-Ex'ed from Ed and Deb Thew also of the Cape. Ed Powers won the lobster, which was raffled at the supper. Phil Taylor won the 50/50 raffle.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. Well, that "snowstorm" we were supposed to have gotten this past weekend decided to just fizzle out. How disappointing was that?

There's a terrible flu going around — everyone at our home has it, and we know of a few others that are ill with it, too. Yuck! We hope everyone out there dealing with this gets well soon.

Church services are Sunday mornings beginning at 9:30 a.m. with Pastor Ed Gammon. And don't forget Presidents' Day on Monday, the 20th.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

Alder River Grange held a regular meeting at Lynn Mason-Courtney's home on Feb. 10. The financial report for the past year was passed out. Much talking about how to raise money was the business of the evening.

The light snow we got Sunday was enough to hide the ice. I hope everyone is careful when they go out now.

Have a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

I am writing my column on Sunday afternoon, and the snow is falling. Saturday was a nice, cold day with a little sunshine, and now, winter has returned, again. The birds are visiting the feeder at a steady pace, so they must believe that there will be a significant amount of snow from this storm. They act on instinct, unlike some of us who try to get the forecast from the Weather Channel.

The forecasters seem to forget that Maine exists and stop their predictions just below the tri-state area. I think I will just keep an eye on the birds. I had an e-mail from Heide Munro, and besides letting me know that she was going to be able to attend the Gilead Historical Society meeting, she said she had been in Boston recently with a friend. They drove across the new bridge and the "big dig" and parked on top of the bus station. They attended the Chinese New Year Celebration. It is the year of the dog and there were lots of firecrackers, which blew up oranges and cabbages for good luck. There were lions and dragons dancing around China Town with drums, gongs and cymbals to drive out bad spirits and bring good luck. The shop owners rewarded them with money in red envelopes. It was very colorful and

I heard recently that training a puppy is lots of fun, especially in the winter, but, as they pointed out, it is better than dealing with the black flies in the spring.

Gilead Historical Society

The main reason of the meeting of the GHS on Saturday, Feb. 11, was to add two articles to the Constitution to comply with IRS regulations in order for the GHS to be tax exempt.

There were 10 members present at the meeting and five who could not attend, but wanted to be known that they would support adding the necessary articles. If the GHS wanted to be tax exempt, there was no choice in the matter anyway. Those present at the meeting were Hugh and Lin Chapman, George and Danna Nickerson, Randy Bennett, Bill Tout, Norman Buttrick, Catherine McGuire, Celia Ficken and Heide Munro. Those unable to attend were Steve McLain, Beverley Corriveau, Howard and "Steve" Reiche, and Gale Tout.

After the members got the articles taken care of, the annual event set for June 24 was discussed. Heide had a list of ideas that were copied and given out to those present. Other interested members can let me know if they would like a copy of the list. The list should be looked over prior to the March 25 meeting, so we will go over it, add to it and make final decisions for the event.

This week's little bit of area history comes from "The Wild River Wilderness" by D.B. Wight.

The Town of Gilead and Hastings were connected in many ways.

"In the year 1885 Leon Leonard Bean, at the age of thirteen and carrying a borrowed gun, went on his first hunting trip with his cousin, Louie Sweet of South Paris. They took a train to Gilead and then walked up Wild River to Major Hastings' farm. They stayed there overnight and the next morning Leon went out and shot his first deer. He returned year after year, and when the Wild River Lumber Co. abandoned one of its logging camps about four miles up river from Hastings, Leon took over the office for a hunting camp, which he named Dew Drop Inn.

"Around 1911, he decided that the rubber shoes he was wearing were uncomfortable. This led him to develop the now famous Maine hunting shoe and the establishment of the firm of L.L. Bean, Inc. of Freeport, Maine, which specializes in supplying hunting, fishing and camping equipment to sportsmen and campers all over the world.

"Although Mr. Bean owned several camps, Dew Drop Inn was the most popular. He was a firm believer in conservation of all fish and game and strict enforcement of all game laws. He felt that by going into the wilderness hunting or fishing, one would forget the mean and petty things of life."

Hello readers, as I'm sitting here writing (Sunday a.m.) we

Well we dodged another snow-storm. We were all ready; we picked up everything at the transfer station; we had snow blowers, plows and shovels ready. All we got for that was a dusting. That is just fine with me.

My Jeep died on Saturday. Just went out with a loud backfire and died. Now I am getting used to driving an automatic again and not having 4-wheel drive in the snow. Oh well!

David wants to sell it and buy a new one. I'm cheap and don't want to spend the money. We shall see.

Hope all had a great Valentine's Day. It is a great day to tell people that we love them.

Next Tuesday, the 21st, Waterford Transfer Station Committee will meet at 6:30 p.m. at the Waterford Town Office. We will be finalizing plans for the March Town Meeting and discussing other items.

That is all for this week. We are off to look at vehicles that actually run. Have a great week.

From the Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats held successful caucus training sessions recently in Mexico and South Paris to prepare caucus convenors for their important role in holding successful meetings in their towns on Sunday, Feb. 26.

Highlights of the 2006 caucuses will be participation in the grassroots party-building efforts of Democratic National Committee Chair Howard Dean as part of his 50-state strategy, an opportunity to assist the candidates running for office with their nominating petitions and qualifying contributions for Maine Clean Elections, and most of all, the opportunity to meet and talk with Democrats. The list of times and places for municipal caucuses will appear in the press in mid-February.

Caucus convenors are Albany Township, Allison Rosenblatt; Andover, Pam Pace; Bethel, Mike Broderick; Brownfield, Marlee Turner; Buckfield, Terry Hayes; Rumford, Byron, Roxbury, John Patrick; Canton, Mary Dube; Denmark, Kathy Banks; Dixfield, Roland Laliberty; Fryeburg and Stow, Jim Wilfong; Greenwood, Upton, Lincoln, Magalloway and Gilead, Cathy Newell; Hanover, Shirley Powell; Hartford, Arlene Nason; Hebron, Dan Eichorn; Hiram, Janice Campbell; Lovell, Toni Seger; Mexico, Linda Petrie; Milton, Scott Billings; Newry, Wendy Hanscom and Bill Andrews; Norway, Hilary Ware; Otisfield, Maureen Howard; Oxford, Chris Pottle; Paris, John Jenness; Peru, Bill Hine; Porter, Doug Bowen; Stoneham, Ruth Crowell; Sumner, Kathy Pewitt; Sweden, Dana Nason; Waterford, Skipp Green and Lynn Curran-Sargent; West Paris, David Walton; Woodstock, Nancy Willard and Maryellen Gartner.

Anyone interested in becoming involved in their local caucus may contact the convenor, or Oxford County Democratic Chair Cathy Newell at 875-2116.

Keep ME Warm, the fund established to assist low-income Mainers with fuel this winter, will be the special beneficiary of the 2006 caucus. Party Chair Pat Colwell has asked that all caucus attendees donate $1 to Keep ME Warm at the event.

Majority Leader Glenn Cummings and Rep. Nancy Smith will hold a Small Business forum on Thursday, Feb. 16, from 5 to 6:30 p.m. at the University and College Center in South Paris. This free event is open to all interested in legislative strategies to benefit small businesses in Maine, and is being sponsored by Speaker of the House John Richardson and Senate President Beth Edmunds.

Sunday, Feb. 26: Democratic Party Caucus meetings throughout Oxford County. For details of times and places, see www.mainedems.org or call County Chair Cathy Newell at 875-2116.

From the Bethel Senior Citizens

The Bethel Senior Citizens Club met Feb. 8 at the West Parish Congregational Church for their dinner and meeting with 35 members present. President Nancy Mercer led the salute to the flag and conducted the meeting. Reports were given by Jane Hosterman and Arlene Lowell.

The next meeting will be March 8 at 11 a.m. at the Bethel Methodist Church. Price of the dinner will be $6. The speaker will be Randy Bennett from the Bethel Historical Society.

The Christmas Party Committee, Mary Paine, Dot York and Rosabelle Tift, gave their report on restaurants for the Christmas dinner. There was discussion on the time and place. The vote was tabled until next meeting when more information is available.

The door prize was won by Louise Twitchell.

After dinner members went to Gould Academy to a play entitled, "The Love for Three Oranges," which was enjoyed by all.

February birthdays are: Don Brooks, Phyllis Cross, Barbara Mahler, Barbara Patterson and Helen Saunders.

From the Roxbury ATV Riders

Our January and February meetings were held at the home of President Mike Worthley at 1162 Roxbury TAPESTRY ON SNOW—The Tapestry program of the Western Maine Girl's Association dogsledding activity that took place recently in Arlon Jodrey's field on Vernon Street. The 10-month program for middle school girls combines physical activities with artistic expression.

Notch Road, in Roxbury.

ATV Maine is changing their business dues to $20 and the club voted to change our dues accordingly, along with increasing our household dues from $20 to $25. Our associate dues remain the same at $10. We currently are having our membership drive. If you are renewing your membership, please send your membership in by April 1, and if anyone knows of someone who would like to join the Roxbury ATV Riders, have them call Mike Worthley at 545-2715 for a membership form.

The club received a $3,500 grant check from the state. This comes from a lot of hard work and energy put in by club members. In order to apply for a grant you have to do a certain amount of monetary work through payments and man-hours to apply and receive these grants.

Officer elections were held for the upcoming year: president, Mike Worthley; vice president, Klaus True; secretary, Wanda Worthley; treasurer, Jane Ryerson. Additions to the Board of Directors were Victor Peterson and David Sinclair.

The club is currently working on rides and fundraisers for the 2006 season. We are planning to hold a Lee Hodgkin's Memorial Poker Run on Memorial Weekend and the second poker run will be the Donald E. Ryerson Memorial Poker Run to be held Labor Day Weekend. These are always great fundraisers and a fun time for those who participate.

Jane Ryerson is going to look into our club riding in the Bethel Mollycrock Day Parade in July and then head out on a club ride after the parade. Riders would be back in plenty of time to enjoy any festivities being held on the common that evening.

We've received bids from New Page on various size signposts, snow fencing, lag and carriage bolts and various seed mixes. All of these items end up being used for trail maintenance.

There are several proposed legislations for the 122nd legislative session in Maine. One is for ATV registration fees to be distributed the same as the snowmobile registrations. The other one is for a Trail Pass System for all ATV trails. It would require that all riders on these trails must purchase a trail pass or face substantial fines. The last one is an act to increase the penalty for an unregistered ATV. For more information, go to info@atvmaine.org.

Thank you's to Dennis Bodeemer, Mountain Valley Sports, for donating tracks for the ramp at the Park & Ride. Thank you also to Irving and Howie Ruff for cable and for Victor Peterson who built the ramp and also for designing the proposed Roxbury ATV Riders Park & Ride sign. This spring we will be cabling off the Park & Ride during the mud season. That will be here before you know it.

Victor Peterson is working on the club website. We have a Web page, but he would like some pictures and other information to add to the site.

We voted to join the Rumford Chamber of Commerce, and it has also been proposed that we may join the Bethel Chamber of Commerce. An opportunity for some good exposure for the club.

We are currently in fundraising mode and are running a 50/50 raffle with over $1,100 collected thus far.

On Saturday, Feb. 18, the next meeting of ATV Maine will be held in Fairfield.

On April 15, the annual ATV Maine Banquet will be held in Bangor. The price is $15 per person. If you are interested in attending, make your check out to ATV Maine and send it to Mary Morse of the River Valley ATV Riders in Rumford. Check your ATV Maine newspaper for further information on this event.

On Feb. 26, the River Valley Riders are running radar runs and ice fishing derbies on North Pond in Rome, Maine. This is to benefit the Pine Tree Camps. They are in need of some volunteers.

The Roxbury ATV Riders voted to send a check for $250 to the town of Byron for the purchase of the Coo's Canyon area.

Congratulations to the town of Byron for raising the necessary funds to make this purchase a reality.

Remember meeting times are 7 p.m. and are held at the home of Mike and Wanda Worthley, 1162 Roxbury Notch

Volleyball fundraiser for food pantry

What would you do if you had to choose between putting food on your table or heating your house this winter? With this year's rising gas and heating costs, many families in our community have to make that choice. But thanks to the current food drive sponsored by the Bethel Masonic Lodge, the shelves at the Bethel Food Pantry are filling up.

"We want to make the families in need aware there is a place to go for help. There doesn't have to be a flood or a hurricane to put people in a place where they need assistance. And the need for food doesn't stop after the holiday food drives are over. A lot of people don't need help forever, but sometimes unforeseen things happen, and it's easier to know the Food Pantry is available and full," said Randy Autrey, master of the Bethel Masonic Lodge.

While the need for non-perishable food is always great, cash donations will be used to pay for perishable goods, such as fresh meat and vegetables, bread and milk. Donations can be dropped off at Brooks Bros. on Main Street in Bethel until Feb. 20. After that time, anyone wishing to make a donation to the Food Pantry, or anyone in need of assistance, should contact the Bethel Town Office.

But Lori McPherson of Brooks Bros. thinks we can do more. In an effort to get more people involved, she has planned a "Snow Volleyball Challenge" for Saturday, Feb. 25, at the BIG Adventure Center, Route 2 in Bethel at 1 p.m. Games will take place "snow or shine." In the past she has participated in the "Polar Dip" that supported different local causes, so when she saw what the Masons are doing to support the community, she started thinking of new ways to help. McPherson thought the volleyball challenge would be a different and fun way to get the community involved.

"We encourage anyone to bring a team (two to six people), or come alone and join a team already in place. So ladies, challenge the men. Freshmen challenge seniors. One business challenge another. You get the drift," said McPherson. "It should be a fun and helpful event for everyone." Adult teams must be 14 years old and over. Junior teams are 13 and under. Contact McPherson by Feb. 22 at 357-3862 or 364-3145 to sign your team up.

Bill Dunton and Annie Komanecky from BIG are delighted to be part of this event. While there is no admission fee to play or to watch, there will be a donation box at BIG Adventure. Anyone making a donation will receive $1 off laser tag for the day until 3 p.m.

Road, Roxbury.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, March 3.

Till next month: Happy and Safe Riding. There's not a lot of riding left before we move from snowmobiles to ATVs once again.

From the

Sunday River Christian Ministry

Greetings from the Sunday River Christian Ministry. We would like to introduce ourselves as a resource we hope can help serve your needs.

Sunday River Christian Ministry is a group of joyful, dedicated Christians who have worshiped at Sunday River since October 1999. Our mission is: to provide an on-mountain interdenominational Christian worship opportunity; to encourage individual spiritual commitment through helping others; and to support the Sunday River community in its ministry needs.

Our congregation consists of several year-round families and many church-seeking guests. We often have international students, teens, visiting clergy and special musicians as part of our service.

Services are held every Sunday in the "Upper Room" of the green River House just past the South Ridge complex. The service starts at 10:30 a.m. and ends at 11:15 a.m. We encourage folks to "ski in" and worship — coming as you are off the slopes. We have several upcoming special services: Gulf Coast Musical Evangelism, March 12; street minister Mark Finks of State Street Traditional Jazz Band shares his masterful banjo ministry to benefit Gulf Coast disaster victims; annual Easter Sunrise Service, April 16 atop Barker Mountain (no skis needed) to help support the needs of the Sunday River Community.

In addition, special services are held annually on Columbus Day weekend, Martin Luther King, Jr. weekend, and Christmas Eve. The Easter Sunrise service atop Barker Mountain ends our season with several hundred worshippers attending in our spectacular setting.

We are spiritually led by ski instructor the Rev. Don Coverdale, an ordained Baptist minister, who serves as a full-time counselor in East Boston High School when not in Bethel. Music is provided by gospel singer Cynthia Libby, whose voice reaches the heavens and our hearts. We are governed by an active Board of Directors including many familiar faces to Sunday River skiers and employees including Bill Herlihy, Ed Hinshaw, Alice Strait, Jim and Henrietta List, Cathy Chismark, and Mary Cloutier.

Our contributions do not go to a steeple fund or choir robes, instead they help to purchase books for free distribution: "The Athlete's Bible" and "The Peace Book." In addition, we support local needs, Maine Handicapped Skiing Program, Baptist Mission Fund, Abernethy Trust International Christian Exchange, Rwanda Orphanage project in Kilgali; Cans and Clothes of Christ's Concern — our own international Outreach program.

We would like to also take this opportunity to express our special thanks to Sunday River for providing time, materials, facilities, and personnel enabling us to carry out our mountain ministry.

Please feel free to contact us if we can be of help at SRCM, P.O. Box 126, Hanover, ME, hlist@maine.edu or call 824-5896.

So come as you are, join us for services full of praise, prayer, and peace.

May the Peace of Christ follow you throughout the year, wherever you are.

From

Bethel Boy Scout Troop 565

Boy Scout Troop 565 of Bethel is proud to announce the advancement of Brandon S. Roberts to the rank of Eagle Scout.

On Jan. 22, a court of honor was held to present this prestigious award. In attendance were members of Troop 565, family, friends, and local and state dignitaries.

The formal ceremony covered Brandon Roberts' commitment to scouting, his advancements, awards, and his Eagle project. During the ceremony he was surrounded by past Eagle Scouts pledging their support to a fellow Eagle Scout.

Letters of recognition were read that included letters from the president of the Boy Scouts of America, several former presidents, Maine's Senators, and several governors including Maine's.

From the

Waterford Public Library

The next monthly book discussion at the Waterford Library will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Feb. 22. The book chosen for discussion is "Middlesex" by Jeffrey Eugenides.

The narrative spans 80 years of family history, from a small town in early 1920s Asia Minor to Prohibition-era Detroit; from the early days of Ford Motors to the heated 1967 race riots; from the tony suburbs of Grosse Pointe and a confusing, aching adolescent love story to modern-day Berlin.

In March the book discussion will be part of the Oxford Hills One Book, One Community celebration of reading and will focus on the 2006 book selection, "Suburban Safari" by Portland author Hannah Holmes. Holmes decided to spend a year studying the inhabitants of her 0.2-acre patch of ground in suburban Portland.

The result is an entertaining and effortlessly compelling examination of nature's stubborn (and successful) struggle to exist in the face of daunting manmade challenges. This book will be available from the library at a subsidized cost of $5 by mid-February.

All are welcome. For more information, please call the library at 583-2050. Library hours are Monday 2 to 6 p.m., Wednesday 3 to 8 p.m., Friday 10 to 12 a.m. and Saturday 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

From the

White Mountain National Forest

Spending time outdoors in the winter is an exhilarating experience. That exhilaration can quickly become fear and despair if you aren't prepared.

Forest Supervisor Tom Wagner said, "Being outdoors in the winter takes special planning and preparation. I am always saddened when I hear of an accident, or that our staff and volunteers have participated in a search and rescue operation. I want everyone that comes to the Forest to go home with great memories."

He continued: "I'm especially concerned this winter because conditions are changing daily. Snowpack and ice conditions are not what we usually see in mid winter. People to the south of the White Mountains may be experiencing warm, spring-like conditions and plan their trip to the Forest based on their local weather. This year especially visitors must be prepared for extremes of cold, wind, snow and even rain and thaws. Know the weather forecast, check the avalanche forecasts, and be flexible enough to change your plans if the weather changes."

Know what you are getting into and what it takes to have that safe and exciting trip. Be prepared, know your route ahead of time, check weather and avalanche conditions, double check your gear (having both the right stuff and making sure it works well), leave route information with others and let someone know if you deviate from your plans.

A poorly planned trip may put others in danger. Members of the search and rescue community, including Forest Service employees, are trained and equipped with appropriate winter clothing and equipment to conduct a search, but those entering the backcountry in winter should always remember that if they are not prepared the rescue team can also be in jeopardy.

Snowshoeing, cross-country skiing, or winter hiking will allow you to explore the quiet areas of the Forest. Make sure you have a map, compass, food, water and overnight gear just in case. Be alert for water crossings or other hazards hidden by a blanket of snow.

If snowmobiling, be a safe rider. Know the area, know your abilities and don't go beyond them. Make sure your machine is in topnotch condition and obey the speed and crossing rules. Wear the proper clothing, dressing in layers. Make sure your helmet is safety-certified, the right size and in good condition. A visor or goggles will offer protection from the sun and wind.

Wagner continued: "I want all visitors to the Forest to have a safe and happy experience while here. Please take care."

For additional information, please check the following websites: www.hikesafe.com/winter.html or www.snowmobile.org.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

The 32nd annual Heritage Day will be held this year on Saturday, Feb. 18, at Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center, 10-14 Broad Street from 1 to 4 p.m. At the historic Dr. Moses Mason House, fresh, warm, homemade Indian pudding will be served from the hearth of the winter kitchen during the special museum tours offered during the afternoon. Exhibits ("Molly Ockett and her World," "Bethel: A Historic Town," and "Newry 200") will be open at the O'Neil Robinson House. There will also be traditional craft demonstrations, historical videos, and a local history book fair. The Museum Shop will also be open with several new items included in this year's offerings. Everyone is welcome.

Over 1,300 members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For forty years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the society opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

Further information about the society and its activities may be obtained by calling 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, or by sending an e-mail to info@bethelhistorical.org. Additional information can also be obtained by checking the society's website at www.bethelhistorical.org.

High School Boys' Varsity Basketball

Lisbon 76, Telstar 59; Feb. 10 — Telstar dropped the regular season closer. The scoring for Telstar saw Alex Gundersen net his first varsity point at the free throw line and James Kimball drain the three ball. Andy Whitney and Steven McDonnell scored two points, Louis Thornton four, Matt Zinchuk netted six, Ryan Kimball added 15, and Sean Caddigan tallied 26. The regular season record is 10 wins and 8 losses.

Gould 65, Seacoast Christian 48; Feb. 8 — Gould used effective full court pressure to cause numerous turnovers and scoring opportunities. The leading scorers for Gould were Thomas Kuemmel with 19, T.L. Tutor with 13 and Ian Siekman with 10. The team evened its league record to 7-7.

Western Foothills Land Trust

This year Carter's X-C Ski Center in Bethel is partnering with the Western Foothills Land Trust for the Trust's 15th annual X-C Ski Event. On Saturday, Feb. 18, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., members and supporters of the Trust are invited to ski at Carter's extraordinary facility on Intervale Road in Bethel, at Carter's normal rates: $12 for adults, $8 for kids.

Carter's has generously offered to donate a significant portion of the proceeds to the Western Foothills Land Trust in honor of the conservation work the Trust does in our community. Thanks to the generosity of an ongoing challenge donation, the amount donated to the Trust that day will be matched. As is the tradition, WFLT Board directors will be slaving over stoves and ovens the week prior to the event preparing homemade chilies, soups, and breads to sustain participants.

For additional information about, or directions to Carter's X-C Ski Center on Intervale Road in Bethel www.cartersxski.com. Or call 824-3880 or 539-4848.

WFLT currently holds conservation easements on over 600 acres of woodland, agricultural lands, and scenic resource lands in western Maine. Directors are currently working on organizational strategic planning, and agreements to protect an additional 1,200 acres in the area. The Trust also owns the 141-acre Witt Swamp in Norway, and is an active member of a newly formed regional alliance of land trusts in western Maine.

The Service Directory: 1x1 $44.85, 1x2 $89.70 for 13 Weeks!

From S.C.O.R.E.

The Oxford Hills SCORE Chapter has scheduled workshops in Business Planning for Business Start-ups that will be offered during March 2006 at Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School, 256 Main Street, South Paris, under the auspices of the Oxford Hills Adult and Community Education Program.

Workshops will be held on four successive Wednesday evenings.

Workshop schedule: Preparing a Business Plan on Wednesday, March 1; Marketing on Wednesday, March 8; Cash Flow Projection on Wednesday, March 15; and Financing a Small Business on Wednesday, March 22.

The workshops will be presented by members of SCORE and the Small Business Development Center/AVCOG. Workshop content has been structured to provide valuable information and assistance in writing a business plan, basic market research, projecting cash flow and obtaining financing for a new business.

Writing a good business plan and understanding marketing and the details of cash flow and finances are vital to the success of any new business.

The fee for the four-session workshops is $45 and includes participation by one business partner or spouse. Advance registration with the Office of Adult and Community Education, 743-8842, Ext. 1, is required. For additional information call SCORE at 743-0499.

From Western Maine Women's Network

The Western Maine Women's Network will feature guest speaker Connie Fletcher at the February event. Fletcher, a creative entrepreneur, will demonstrate rug hooking techniques, talk about the history of this fiber art and share how she turned her hobby into a small business venture.

The February event, entitled "Stressed Out? Become a Rug Hooker" will be held at Maurice Restaurant, South Paris from 5 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 16. To register for the event or for more information about the Maine Women's Network, visit the group's website www.WMWN.org.

Fletcher began to hook primitive rugs in 1998 and launched her rug hooking business in 2002. She hooks with 100 percent wool strips and hand dyes many of the colors she uses. She is particularly fond of patterns with patriotic themes or those that feature horses.

In 2005 Fletcher was honored by "Early American Life" magazine to be in their 20th annual Directory of Traditional American Crafts (published in August 2005).

Her work was judged on the basis of mastery art form, heritage techniques and workmanship by a panel of twenty judges comprised of museum curators, antique dealers, independent scholars, and professional instructors.

The Western Maine Women's Network serves as a resource for women as they build professional and personal partnerships. The network creates a professional environment for all women to become more effective in the business world through networking, education, and connections with community resources.

An invitation is open to all who would like to attend the Feb. 16 event.

The cost is $5 for members and $8 for nonmembers and includes refreshments, networking and the featured speaker. For more information about membership or to register for this event, check out the website www.WMWN.org.

The Women's Network is an opportunity to network with other area businesswomen.

The Western Maine Chapter will hold its monthly meeting on a variety of topics at locations throughout this area.

If you are interested in joining the Women's Network or hosting a monthly meeting at your place of business, please call Carol Corriveau, membership chair, at 674-3344 or go to the above website.

BEFORE BUYING A HOME!
Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what would you like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.
An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into, "must have", "should have" and "would be nice to have". By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

"When you live out of state and you hire a builder to construct a house hundreds of miles away trust has got to be a huge factor. We hired Francis Dumont of Maine Custom Builders and quite frankly never had to worry. The construction was completed on time without issues and the quality was above expectations." "It is seldom that when you deal with a builder that they actually stand by their work even after the warranty period is over. Francis Dumont of Maine Custom Builders is one of those rare builders!"

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
IF THE PRICE ISN'T RIGHT
A Realtor has shown you a house that you like a lot. There is only one problem - the price seems too high. In a situation like this, you can still make an offer that you feel is appropriate.
The Realtor cannot tell you how much to offer, but can give you information about the selling prices of similar homes in the area. The agent will present your offer to the sellers. They have three choices - they can accept, reject, or counter your offer. If the house is a new listing, or if your offer is very low, they may decide to hold out for something better. Sellers frequently build a little negotiating room into their asking price. Prices that are not negotiable at the beginning of a listing period may become flexible as time goes on. If you want to test the sellers' flexibility, make them an offer.
